The International Association of Scouts is called WOSM (World Organisation of Scouts Movement) having its Headquarters at Geneva. The International organization of Guides is known as organization of Guides is known as WAGGGS (World Association of Girl Guides Girl Scouts) having its Headquarters at London.
SCOUTING GUIDING IN INDIA

Scouting came to India in the year 1909. It is difficult to give a small chronological account of growth of Scouting in our country. It is a chain of connected stories of various organizations working in the field. On the initiative of first president of India Dr. Rajendra Prasad and then Education Minister Maulana Abul Kalam Azad in 1949, all organizations working in this field merged into one National level organization and “The Bharat Scouts & Guides” came into existence on 07th November, 1950. Since the day of its existence this single unified organization began to work for the welfare of Boys & Girls through its state organizations in every state of Indian Union. The organization is recognized by the Government of India and affiliated with International Association i.e. WOSM & WAGGGS.

ACTIVITIES

Institute of Vocational Studies, Sheikh Sarai Introduced Scouts and Guides. About 100 Scouts and Guides took part in it. There were categories like Rovers and Rangers. The Scouts and Guides activities are based upon the Principles and methods conceived by the Founder Lord Baden Powell. The movement is based on the principles of Duty to Self, Duty to God and Duty to others. The Scouts-Guides method is a system of progressive self education through Law & Promise, Learning by Doing, Discovery and acceptance of responsibilities through membership of small groups.
